The Guild presented a gift of $10,000 to the symphony at the Association's annual meeting prior to orchestra rehearsal on April 18. We were also happy to announce that the Guild will again sponsor the harpist for next season's concerts and host the popular post-concert sparkling wine receptions in the Bankhead lobby! It was a busy week—on April 20, the Guild held its annual spring business meeting to elect Guild officers and Nominating Committee members. Welcome aboard, everyone! (See article on page 4.)

The music for the May 20 concert holds special memories for me. First of all, as a college drama/dance major I was a harem girl in the full-length ballet of Scheherazade, and my best friend was the Sultan's storyteller, Zobeide. The music is glorious and I never tire of hearing it. The Grieg Piano Concerto is another favorite of mine. Being Norwegian, my husband and I visited Grieg's home in Bergen and my relatives who live in northern Norway. After my husband died in 2011, his family and I put together a video of his life. I used the "Adagio" section of the Grieg Piano Concerto as the background music to photos of our trips. The concerto brings back so many wonderful memories. My husband's family will be attending the concert with me and I am pretty certain there won't be a dry eye among us during soloist Frank Wiens' performance.

It has been my pleasure to serve as Guild president for the past five years. As I near the end of my term I send out a heartfelt thank you to all the members of the Guild and especially to the Board for their help and support. I wish Nancy McKenzie great success as she takes the lead of a wonderful group of symphony volunteers. We will all continue doing our utmost to support the Symphony.

Were you transfixed by Matilda Hofman and our magnificent concert April 8? Her pre-concert talk was superlative, and she conversed with the audience to the end at the post-concert reception. Thank you, Matilda—we enjoyed working with you! Welcome back, Lara!

As hauntingly beautiful as last concert's melodies were, I can't pull any back into my brain. That's because Scheherazade has consumed all in there! May 20, you'll just love it!

Thank you, reelected LASA Board Members, and welcome back, Trey Johnston. Thank you, dear Guild, for the $10,000 gift, continued harp support, meeting refreshments, and after-concert receptions!

New officers were elected at the April LASA board meeting: President, Linda Tinney; Vice-President, Lynn Seppala; Secretary, Marcia Elchesen; Treasurer, Ursula Goldstein; and Officer-at-Large, Denise Leddon. Congratulations, and thanks for stepping up!

I've had a busy three years as Symphony Association President. The Kasameyer timpani purchase is happening. I enjoyed shaping/negotiating such things as two rehearsals per concert at the Bankhead, storage for our celesta and timpani, critically scoring more chairs for the stage, selecting our personnel/production team for the symphony, and instituting 5-year planning to improve and preserve existing functionality. A best part was working closely with Lara Webber to ensure a smooth operating transition, especially while we included regular youth open dress rehearsals, in-school performances, free family concerts, galas, and a successful holiday donation letter. LAS has been invited again to perform at the Bankhead Theater Gala (September 9 with the Indigo Girls)! Ooh!

We will be in good hands with Linda Tinney come July 1st. Thank you, LASA board, donors, audience, orchestra musicians/dedicated volunteers, Guild, and Lara Webber. Thank you, everyone, for making us what we are!

Denise Leddon, LAS Association President

P.S. Please keep your ear tuned to Livermore's Downtown Steering Committee. It is their mission to reach out to Livermore residents, to listen to you on planning the mostly empty 8-acre parcel downtown.

Scheherazade by Nickolai Rimsky-Korsakov

Join us in the Bankhead Lobby for a post-concert sparkling wine reception hosted by the Guild!

Piano soloist Frank Wiens has toured the US annually in recital and orchestra performances since 1974, including soloist appearances with the Atlanta, Denver, and Detroit symphonies. He has also performed in London, Vienna, Poland, Romania, Slovakia, and the Soviet Union. In 2012 he participated in a special project in Norway involving the music of Edvard Grieg. Wiens has taught since 1976 at University of the Pacific in Stockton, where he now holds the position of Professor of Piano. He resides in Stockton with his wife, mezzo-soprano Lynelle Frankforter Wiens. In his spare time, Wiens enjoys golf and gourmet cooking. Wiens calls the Grieg concerto “one of the most beloved and well-known pieces in the repertoire for piano and orchestra, as well as one of that composer’s most successful works in a large format. Its combination of virtuosity with the beautiful melodies so associated with Grieg’s music make it easy to love.”

Kristina Anderson, LAS concertmaster, violin soloist. LAS music director Lara Webber says, “Rimsky-Korsakov’s brilliant and imaginative orchestral masterpiece Scheherazade is the ultimate example of storytelling in symphonic music... a musical tapestry of colorful music that is vividly cinematic in its scope.... The character of Scheherazade is represented by a solo violin playing an improvisatory-sounding theme that spins out in each movement—signaling the start of a new story to consume the focus of the Sultan. His theme is unmistakable, powerful and threatening, often played by the brass and low strings, and it transforms several times as the Sultan is affected, excited, and moved by Scheherazade’s stories. We ride the beautiful stormy seas with Sinbad. We witness the charm and magic of the Kalandar Prince, represented by exotic woodwind solos, and fall in love with the Young Prince and Princess. Rimsky-Korsakov brings all these musical themes and fantastic tales together in the finale, a Festival at Baghdad.”

Guild Officers Elected

At its Spring Business Meeting on April 20, the Guild elected officers for the 2017–2018 season: Nancy McKenzie, President; Patricia Burnett, Vice-President; Marcia S. Elchesen, Recording Secretary; and Joan Dickinson, Treasurer. Nan Davies and Leota Lee were elected to the Nominating Committee. Installation will take place at the Guild spring luncheon May 25.

After the meeting, attendees enjoyed a music performance by Mary E. Martin, piano; Phyllis Harding, clarinet; and Alan Copeland, cello. Martin opened the concert with piano arrangements of Tchaikovsky’s “The Seasons–February,” Debussy’s “Arabesque No. 2,” and Gershwin’s “Prelude No. 1” and “I Got Rhythm.” Next, Martin and Copeland performed five of the “Six Studies in English Folk Song” by Ralph Vaughan Williams. The program closed with Piano Trio #3, a three-movement work by Rick Sowash, a living composer and native Ohioan, about whom Copeland shared several unusual and interesting biographical details.

Following the performance, attendees socialized and enjoyed refreshments organized by Leona Brush with assistance from Maudie Kuening. Several Guild members provided an array of cookies and other treats for the affair.

Special thanks to Nan Davies who arranged for the music program and to Nan and Walt for hosting the meeting in their home.

Symphony Performs Peter and the Wolf Concerts at Pleasanton Schools

On April 20, the Livermore-Amador Symphony took a full orchestra into Valley View and Vintage Hills elementary schools in Pleasanton, reaching over 900 students in one day with performances of Peter and the Wolf. The music captivated the imagination of the kids, who enthusiastically answered questions and shared their ideas about the music they heard. They were particularly enthralled with the narration by actor Michael Wayne Rice, an associate artist with Livermore Shakespeare Festival. The program was tied into the common core curriculum, with an emphasis on critical thinking, imagery, and storytelling through music. Each performance opened with the “Star Spangled Banner,” with full-throated singing from all the students, and closed with the kids clapping and marching along to Sousa’s “Washington Post March.”

The musicians, nearly all of whom volunteered their time, included Lynda Alvarez, Norman Back, Judy Beck, Marianne Beeler, Stephanie Black, Lisa Burkhart, Lisa Canter, Alan Copeland, Judy Eckart, Del Eckels, Josepha Fath, Ursula Goldstein, Phyllis Harding, Jim Hartman, Christine-Ann Immesoete, Susan Ivie, Eva Langfeldt, Patricia Lay, Denise Leddon, April Nissen, Michael Portnoff, Wendy Reynolds, Diane Schildbach, and Bryan Waugh. The performances were led by LAS music director Lara Webber.

Between the morning and afternoon concerts, the musicians enjoyed a lunch break at the home of LASA Board member Min Xu, organized by Guild members Marcia Elchesen and Linda Miller. These concerts were made possible by grants from the Pleasanton Arts Commission and the Pleasanton Youth Commission with administrative help and support from LVPAC-Bankhead Theater and the LAS Youth Outreach Committee. The Symphony looks forward to bringing similar programs to schools throughout the Tri-Valley in the coming years.

Competition for Young Musicians
October 1, 2017

The competition is open to instrumentalists and vocalists who reside or attend school in Livermore, Pleasanton, Sunol, Dublin, or San Ramon. Students are eligible through grade twelve. (If not enrolled in high school, the maximum age is 17.) By September 10, students must submit an application and a recording for preliminary screening. Those who pass the screening will be invited to audition on October 1. The winner(s) will perform as soloist(s) with the Symphony at its February 24 concert and receive a $500 award. Detailed information is on the Symphony’s website at <http://livermoreamadorsymphony.org/competition.html>
